A cargo of Sicily Oranges and Lemons, just in, commenced landing to-day, but no sales have been made public. Flour and Meal—There is very little inquiry for Flour, but good Flour is getting scarce. Common kinds, however, are dull and neglected. The sales are only in small lots for home use at $9,75a$10 for common and good brands; $10,12½a10,25 for select lots, and $10,50a11 per bbl for extra, according to quality. Standard shipping Flour is offered at our lowest figures, but there is no demand for export. Some [illegible] bbls Pennsylvania was sold at a price not public. Grain—There is very little Wheat offering or selling. Rye is firmer, and some small sales of Pennsylvania are reported at 140c. Corn is neglected; there are no shippers in market, and the receipts of yellow, which are light, are freely offered at 103a102c, afloat, without finding buyers. A small sale was afterwards made at 100c. White is also very dull. Oats are rather lower; 2500 bushels Virginia sold at 54½c afloat, and about 1500 bushels Delaware at 55c. in store, and 53c. delivered. In Groceries the movement continues small, and the market generally very quiet. Hops are firmer. Hemp—Little or nothing doing for want of stock in first hands. Hides remain dull. Iron—There is a good feeling in the market, but buyers and sellers are apart in their views, and the transactions of the last three days have been limited at about previous quotations. Lead is without movement for the want of stock to operate in. Lumber is unchanged. Naval Stores—Transactions are mostly in a small way, without any alteration in quotations. Oils—Fish Oils are firmer, and Whale is bringing rather better prices, but the sales are only in small Lots from store. Lard Oil is steady, but Linseed remains dull and unsettled. Plaster—There is very little offering or selling; we quote at $2,62½a3 per ton, as in quality. Provisions—Stocks generally are very much reduced and the market firm, but there is very little doing in barrelled meats. Mess Pork is held at $20, and city mess Beef at the same figure, but the sales are only in a small way. Bacon sells as wanted at 11½ a13½c for plain and fancy hams, 10a10½c for sides, and 9½a9½c for shoulders. Green meats are scarce and firm at previous quoted rates. Lard is steady, with a small business to notice at 11a11½c for bbls. and 12½c for kegs. Butter and Cheese remain dull. Rice is better, the stock is very much reduced, and owing to the advance at the South holders are asking ½a¾ ct. advance, with a small business doing. Salt—No further arrivals or sales have come under our notice. Seeds—There is little or none selling, and the market has been pretty much at a stand since the close of last week, without any variation to notice in prices. Teas and Tobacco remain quiet. Wool is arriving more freely, and the market is firmer, with a moderate business doing at rather better prices. Whiskey is scarce; bbls are selling as wanted at 41c, and hhds at 40c. Freights—No change in foreign freights, and quotations are entirely nominal; Colliers are more plenty, and the going rates are $1 to New York, $1,25 to Rhode Island, and $1,50 per ton to Boston. WOOL—A late New York circular says: For the last two or three weeks, dealers and manufacturers have directed their attention to the country in purchasing the new clip, which we learn will be in good condition, but a light yield. It is the general impression that two-thirds of the new clip are bought. The prices advanced from the first purchases from four to five cents per lb The wool cannot, therefore, be brought to market to be sold at less than present prices, leaving a small profit.

The new clip is gradually coming in, and some sales have been made fully up to our quotations. We expect to see a good stock here by the first of August.

The present indications of the production of wool in this country show no increase, but rather the reverse. There is no abundance of native wool, though we are all aware that woolen manufacturers, instead of multiplying with the progress of the country, have for the last five years decreased. Very few factories have sprung up, but large concerns have suspended, and others have been destroyed by conflagration without being rebuilt; and considering that for about six months of the last year, one-half of the machinery of many mills remained idle, as we stated before, (May 1st) we wish to lay before all who are interested in this branch, the unsagacious and imprudent measure of levying a duty of 30 per cent on wool and raw materials for manufacturers. Should fair play be allowed to our woollen factories with the English, German, and those of other European countries, we have no doubt prices of wool would rule permanently much higher by the far greater demand. Wool growers would soon become convinced that even by doubling their flocks of sheep, prices would not fall as it is proven under the present unreasonable system; and instead of finding our mechanics and factory hands, as at present, poor and part of their time out of work (by reason of the measure just referred to) they would be properly employed, and better off, and likewise become larger consumers of farmers' produce and manufactured goods.

The present improvement in prices of wool is principally based upon the easy money market, and not so much on the somewhat better demand for goods, which we are pleased to notice. We cannot, therefore, be too cautious in such a state of affairs, as long as provisions rule high, and manufacturers from abroad are governing our markets. We should feel inclined to think that farmers and wool growers have already paid or lost money enough to learn by this time, by their own experience, that to abolish the 30 per cent duty (before mentioned) would be more in their favor than that of the manufacturers; and they would become convinced that even the exporting of wool would be more profitable for them, and certainly more so than it proves to be to the wool growers of Australia and the Cape of Good Hope.

This country ought to produce at least four times the quantity it now does.

BALTIMORE, July 2—Flour—The market presents the same general features. There was but little inquiry for either Howard Street or City Mills, but there is little of either description offering, and prices show no change. We have reported a sale on 'Change this morning of 200 bbls Howard Street at $9 75. The market was steady at this figure. There were no sales of City Mills made that we heard of, nor could we learn that there was any of this description offering. We quote it nominally at $9 75a9 87½. The last sale that we heard of was made at the figure last named. There were some parties offering to sell Flour for future delivery, but we are not advised of any sales having been made as yet. Rye Flour and Corn Meal are both dull. We quote the former at $7 50 ⅌ bbl, and the latter at $5 for City Mill and $4 75 for Country Mills.

Grain—There was very little animation in the morning in the market. The receipts of all descriptions were light, and the sales quite limited. There was very little Wheat at market, in all not more than 200 to 300 bus. A small parcel of prime red sold at 210c, and a small lot of white at 215. The offerings although light, seemed fully equal to the demand. Corn was very dull. The receipts were about 3,900 bus, included in which were 3,900 bus New York mixed yellow. There were but few sales made on 'Change. We note sales of yellow at 99a100c, white at 100a102c; and we quote mixed at 95a96c. For a lot of 1800 bus very prime white Corn 103c was offered and refused. There were about 300 bus Pennsylvania Rye at market this morning, but no sales were made that we were aware of. It was held as on Saturday at 150c. Oats continue very dull. We quote Maryland and Virginia Oats at 48a50c, and Pennsylvania do at 50a52c. There were about 3,000 bus at market, but only some small parcels were disposed of.

NEW ORLEANS TOBACCO MARKET.—We have again to notice a moderately active market, the sales of the past three days comprising 700 hhds, including Saturday at 7½c; 77 at —; 63 at 7½; 5 at 7¼, and 50 Lugs at 7½; 105 hhds on Monday at 8½c; 59 at 8¼; 45 at 8½; 22 at 7½c; and 7 selections at 10½; and 64 yesterday at 8 5-16; 52 at 8; 11 at 9, and 1 at 10, and 59 at 9c. If anything, prices have ruled more in favor of buyers; but for the present we continue our previous quotations as follows: Factory Lugs 6¼a6½c; Planters' 6½a7½c; Common Leaf 7¼a8c; Fair 8½a8½c; Fine 8¾a9½c; and Choice and Selections 9½a11. Received since the 22d inst 1310 hhds. Exported 93 hhds, embracing 22 to Boston and 71 to New York.

BOSTON, July 2.—The market is quite dull for the lower grades of Flour, and prices have further declined, but extras are not offering except at previous rates. Sales of common brands Western at $8,62½a8,75; fancy brands $9.75a10, closing at lowest rate; and extras at $10.25a11.50 ⅌ bbl. Extra Genesee is selling at $11,50a$13 ⅌ bbl, as to brand. A lot of 400 bbls extra Georgetown, Union Mills, sold at $11,75 ⅌ bbl. Corn is dull and prices are quite nominal; no sales of yellow or white; mixed is selling in a small way at $1.0 a1,03 ⅌ bushel. Oats bring 62a64 cts for good Western and Northern. Rye is dull and offered at $1,60 ⅌ bushel

COFFEE.—The New Orleans Bulletin of the 27th ult. says:—The market closed on Friday with a stock of Rio on hand of less than 19,000 bags, since which the demand has been active, the sales of the three days comprising nearly 13,000 bags, embracing 9615 bags on Saturday, mostly for St. Louis, embracing 372 at 9½; 1582 at 10¼; 2 61 at 10¼; and 5400 good fair at 10½c; 2 9? bags on Monday, embracing 724 at 9¾c; 500 at 10 3-16; 100 at 10¼, and 769 Skimmings at 8¾, and 1,2½ yesterday, embracing 146 at 10c; 782 at 10 3-16; 100 at 10¼, and 100 at 11, indicating a further advance, predicated on the light stock.

MOBILE, June 29.—Cotton—The market continues without animation, and prices drooping. The sales to-day are 400 a 500 bales. The asking rates are generally 10½c for middling, but in some instances lower figures were accepted.

CHARLESTON, June 30.—Cotton—The few buyers in the market to-day exacted full ⅛ concession from holders, and about 400 bales sold at from 9¾a11¾; the bulk of 260 bales at 10½a11, and 100 at 11¾.

Correspondence of the Philadelphia Exchange.
[Per steamer St. Nicholas.]
LEWES, Del, July 3—6 A M.
The ship Ocean Belle, from Liverpool, three barques five brigs and about forty schooners, proceeded up last evening. A ship is now in sight, off the Beacon Light, heading for the Breakwater, said to be the Crest of the Wave, from Liverpool. No vessel in the Roadstead and but very few in sight coming down. Wind light from N W, and weather exceedingly pleasant. The harvest is now being general, and promises an abundant yield—far beyond an average. WM. M. HICKMAN.

MARINE MISCELLANY

Barque Black Sea, of 600 tons, was launched on Monday at Green Point, NY.

NOTICE TO MARINERS.

LIGHT AT THE NORE FLOATING LIGHT VESSEL.—On or about the 21st ult. the Light at the Nore Floating Light Vessel ceased to be exhibited as a fixed light, and a revolving light, showing a flash of a bright light at intervals of 30 seconds, was to be exhibited instead. This course has been considered to be expedient, owing to the difficulties which it appears have been experienced of distinguishing the Nore floating light from those of other vessels constantly at anchor in the vicinity—the Admiralty regulations requiring all vessels at anchor to exhibit a bright light.

CADIZ LIGHT HOUSE.—On the 1st of June of the present year, in place of the old reflecting light placed in the westernmost part of the castle of San Sebastian, in the town of Cadiz, there will be illuminated a new catadioptric apparatus of the second class, large size, with which it has just been replaced. Its position, which has in no respect been altered, is as follows:—Latitude 36 deg. 31 min. 10 sec N. Longitude 6 sec. 38 min. W. of the Marine Observatory of San Fernando. The light is elevated 1,575 feet (43.7 m) above the level of spring tide, and consists of a fixed white light, varied with red flashes every two minutes, visible at a distance of twenty miles, whenever the state of the atmosphere permits, and the eye of the observer is 23 5 feet 7 8 m) above the sea level.

American and Gazette.

For the North American and U. S. Gazette.
"Hints, During the Hot Weather."

Mr. Editor: An article on the first page of the North American and Gazette of to-day, alludes to the heat and its effects on out-door working men, and suggests the use of a drink made from molasses, vinegar and water, as acids are of a cooling nature, &c.

Be good enough to say to the public that at least one half of all the vinegar sold in the stores is manufactured poison, being made from "shavings," slops, &c., fermented with common whiskey and water. Some of it contains vitriol, and this is always deleterious to the health of the partaker, and is the frequent cause of bowel diseases in the warm season, when vegetables being plenty, the acids are used on the table intermixed with them. Pure cider vinegar, when it can be obtained, is a healthy article, and one deserving of all the encomiums bestowed on it.

A mixture of pure cider vinegar, molasses and water is indeed a healthy beverage, and will never injure, if used in moderation, as all acids should be.

Cayenne, Salt and Vinegar, mixed with water, in such proportions as can be swallowed readily, is of great use when persons have partaken too largely of intense cold water, and are suffering from its effects—it rouses the stomach into action, and produces perspiration, oftentimes relieving in a few minutes the oppression and pain.

Salt and vinegar have saved hundreds of lives in dysentery; and frequently on shipboard, to the knowledge of the writer, it has cured or arrested paroxysms of cholera and stopped the disease.

It will be found also, where lemons disagree, that a lemonade made from the juice of lemons on which water, boiling hot, has been poured, and this allowed to cool before being drunk, will not cause uneasiness or pain, and will prove grateful where otherwise it would injure.

Mineral water now again is about being partaken of in immense quantities. The caution here to be observed is the liability of the pipes conducting the waters from the tank or fountain being composed of soft lead easily corroded, and not properly tinned. The writer has seen pipe thus used corroded almost similar to a honey-comb, from the effects of the water, and this water will induce colic of the most violent nature, and many a sick person has been made much worse by the physician permitting the use of mineral waters without observing from whence it was obtained.

During the past few years our chemists and apothecaries have particularly noticed this, and now many of our stores, where this healthy beverage is sold, have apparatus constructed on correct principles, which prevent this liability, and where mineral waters can be had pure and sparkling. Yet, where booths are erected—where isolated shops are found with the old and cheap apparatus, the old plan is yet continued, and is the not unfrequent cause of "cramps" and irritable digestive organs.

Excuse the liberty here taken, and if this article merits your approbation, please insert it.

THE SCHUYLER FRAUDS.—Letter from Robert Schuyler.—In the last annual report of the New York and New Haven Railroad Company Robert Schuyler was charged with having committed various frauds which had not before been discovered, and which charges caused new surprise to those who had faith in him before the exposure of his over issues. This charge has elicited a reply from the long missing Robert Schuyler, which we find in the New York Tribune. That paper says it came by the last steamer, but bears no date, and does not even indicate Mr. S.'s present residence. We quote the material portions of the letter:

It appears that the President stated that the company had sustained a total cash loss of capital of $137,327, by the various operations set forth in the Directors' report ascribed to me. If I had strength to do so, I should examine the details of these statements and show you, as I believe, that none of them are founded on facts, and that the conclusion is erroneous and untrue, and that no loss of cash capital has been the consequence of any act of mine. But I am only able at present to point out one single error, which, however, is of greater amount than the whole alleged loss, and which, on correction, at once places the balance on the other side. The account of R. & G. L. S. is charged by the Treasurer on 21st September, 1853, for 3200 shares Harlem preferred stock, $169,200, for which sum that stock was sold to them, and for which they agreed to retire the bonds of the company due 1st October, 1853, on which payment had been originally made for the stock.

No other provision was made for these bonds, and on the 1st October, and subsequently on presentation, all of them, amounting to $160,000, were taken up by the firm, partly in cash (about $110,000) and the remainder by exchanging with the holders other bonds of the company belonging to the firm. After the last bond was paid, I believe that the amount of the sale was adjusted and the balance due paid to the company in cash or its equivalent. The construction books alone contained the amounts of the stock and bonds, and should also show the particulars of the sale and settlements, and I have no doubt they do so; and if they do not, the facts are substantially as I state them.

It follows then, either that the Treasurer's debit should not have been made, or that the President, in combining the two books, and making re-entries, for the purpose of correcting errors, should have credited the account of R & G. L. S. with full payment for the stock of $169,200, whereby the figures which he states to result in a balance against them of $89,200 would show a balance of $80,000 in their favor, even if the other items were correct, which is not admitted. I make no comment on these errors, but presume them to have been unintentional. Though I did not intend to trouble you as to the other charges, I beg to say, as to the allegation that $10,156 were paid to me for specific purposes, and not applied as intended, that if it is intended to assert that these sums were directly or indirectly applied to my own use, that after a most careful self-examination, I do not remember a single case of the kind, nor that any person ever applied to me or directly through and one else for the payment of any intended appropriation not paid over.

If it is meant that there are no vouchers to show the payments, though the amount strikes me as greater than I supposed, yet it is true that many payments in the nature of secret service were made, to which no vouchers could be required I believe, however, that the directors always had a general knowledge of these payments, and deemed them necessary I am also charged with $5,000 drawn from the earnings of the road for Norwalk damages. I am confident that I placed with the treasurer vouchers for every draft upon him, except for the amounts paid with the knowledge and approval of the directors, as counsel fees of a confidential character to gentlemen of standing and influence, which can be shown, I believe, if necessary, by others than myself—and except also the sum of $500 drawn for lost baggage, expenses and fees, waiting payment when I left my office, and I presume not paid over.

He closes by saying he prepared this letter under great difficulty, in great debility of body and in a broken spirit, but with clear recollections.

A Mormon Woman in Distress—The Working of Polygamy.

There is a woman now in St. Louis who has been made a victim of Mormonism, to whom we desire to invite the attention, and in behalf of whom we wish to enlist the sympathy, of the philanthropic. Her name is Mrs. Parsons. Ten years ago she was living happily with her husband, who was a clever shoemaker, in London, comfortable in circumstances, and blessed with domestic peace About that time the husband became a convert to Mormonism, under the influence of the preaching of the proselytes of the Church of Latter Day Saints, who were strolling over England and Wales. Of course, his wife embraced the faith, too—the abominable doctrine of polygamy being sturdily denied by those who pretended to be the orthodox expounders of the creed. Her husband abandoned his trade and turned preacher, travelling over France and England to disseminate the Mormon doctrines. Of course the wife was left pretty much to shift for herself and her young children. Things went on until she came to America, about a year ago, on her way to Utah, with a company of Mormon emigrants. Her husband remained in Europe to superintend the embarkation of other emigrants, and promised to meet her in St. Louis. When the poor woman arrived here, she found no provision made for her support, and no arrangements for her passage across the plains. She was therefore compelled to seek employment to earn a scanty support for herself and her starving children. By stitching shoes she managed to live through the winter, and in the spring her husband arrived, and proceeded forthwith up the Missouri river to the Mormon encampment at Atchison, in Kansas territory, commanding her to follow.

Devoted in her attachment to her brute of a husband, and trusting sincerely in the Mormon faith, as represented to her, she embarked on another boat, and reached Atchison, in quest of her husband. There she found him living in a tent with two women to whom he had been spiritually "sealed." Her feelings and condition may be better imagined than described. She was crushed and heart broken. She tried to induce the brute to abandon his mistresses and protect her, but she was spurned by him, who intimated that she must shift for herself. She represented her case to the ecclesiastical chief, on the ground, and urged him to see her righted, but that precious disciple told her she was a stiff-necked reprobate, stinking in the nostrils of every good Mormon. Heart-broken and despairing, she took her two children and made her way from the camp, five miles, to Atchison, where she stated her case, to a generous citizen. He promised to protect her with his life, and aided her in getting on board the F. X. Aubrey, then on her way down the river. She had but three dollars, which she offered to the captain for her passage to St. Louis, but he, like a generous man that he is, brought her down for nothing.

Information of her situation reached the ears of two or three charitable ladies of the city, who secured a place for her in the Home of the Friendless, and provided a temporary retreat for her children Her situation is a sad one, and she truly deserves the sympathy and assistance of her sex. We trust she may receive it. She may be seen at the Home of the Friendless, and we suggest that the benevolent call there and hear the touching tale of her griefs from her own lips.

FLOOD—LOSS OF LIFE.—The painful intelligence and destructive disasters which it falls to our lot as a public journalist this day to record are without any preceding parallel in the history of this place. Last evening, soon after midnight, the rain began to descend in torrents, and continued for three hours without cessation, which caused a sudden rise of the Canecadea and Crosby Creeks. At sunrise this morning, most of the streets were like so many aqueducts, and torrents of water and large quantities of lumber, flood wood and other rubbish, were passing rapidly down them.

We understand the wife and one child of Mr. James Halloway were drowned, about two and a half miles west of this village, in their efforts to escape from the house when surrounded by water. The other members of the family narrowly escaped with their lives We also hear reports of other deaths by drowning, of narrow escapes, &c., but the reports are too indefinite for us to attempt to publish them.

The disasters resulting from the flood are painful in the extreme; and beside the loss of life, which is a melancholy calamity indeed, the losses sustained by the destruction of property and crops within the village and vicinity, it is impossible to make any thing like a definite estimate of. The damage alone in the village exceeds tens of thousands of dollars.—Hornellsville Tribune, June 28.

"MY CIRCUMSTANCES, BUT NOT MY NAME."—There was a dry old fellow, whose wit was the amusement of the residents of the south of Jefferson county He was sitting one day in the village store; a gentleman who came in thought he recognized a friend, and said: How do you do, Mr. Underhill? The old man said, "Sir, you have described my circumstances, but that is not my name." The same old fellow called one day on the member of Congress elect; the family were at breakfast; there was a vacant seat, but the old man was hardly in a plight to be invited to the table. The following conversation took place; "How do you do Mr. ——? What is the news?" Said the old man, "Nothing much, but one of my neighbors gave his child a queer name." "What was it?" "Come and eat." The name sounded so peculiar that it was repeated. "What, come and eat?" "Yes, thank you," said the old man, "I don't care if I do," and drew up to the table.—Rome Sentinel.

A DEAD LOSS.—Miss Fantadling says if she ain't dead, she has lost her vital 'spark'—the man who used to sit up with her.

From New Mexico.

The St. Louis Republican has advices from New Mexico to June 6.

Mr. Magraw, contractor for carrying the Salt Lake mail, has returned from a trip as far as the Blue. At that point he met with Lieut. Heath, who brought the latest intelligence from Fort Laramie, and contradicts the reports of Indian depredations upon emigrant trains, of which so much has been said. All was quiet about Fort Laramie.

From the Squatter Sovereign, published at Atchison, Kansas Territory, of the 26th, we learn that Major Rose, late agent for the Utah Indians in Utah Territory, with his family, arrived there on the 21st inst. Sixteen persons accompanied him.

Major Rose made the trip from Salt Lake Valley in forty-three days. On their journey they passed two mail trains. Major Rose represents that he did not see or hear of a hostile Indian on the Plains, and denies the correctness of all reports about outrages being perpetrated by the Indians, the story of a train being intercepted, and one hundred persons murdered, &c.

The Indians convicted of the murder of Captain Gunnison and his party, who were tried at Salt Lake, sentenced to the penitentiary, and thence made their escape, were afterwards retaken and were securely confined in prison.

The train of Messrs. Majors & Russell, on the way to Salt Lake City, was met at Little Blue, getting along finely.

Mr. John Ray writes to the editors of the Squatter Sovereign, that he left the Valley of Salt Lake on the 8th of May, and met several trains for California, Oregon and elsewhere. A portion of the United States troops were met twenty miles east of Fort Kearney. He denies the reports respecting the troubles and annoyances of the Indians, and says that they evinced quite a friendly feeling. He hopes that some one will be employed to carry the mails in whom confidence can be placed, and not hazard their loss by the want of proper attention.

A correspondent of the St. Louis Republican writes as follows:

On the 20th of April, by order of Col. Fauntleroy, commanding, Lieut. Col. C. St. Vrain left Fort Massachusetts in command of two companies and F Company U S A 1st Dragoons, with instructions to march through the Sangre de Christo Pass, Wet Mountain Valley, up the Arkansas River, and meet Col. Fauntleroy at the Puncha Pass; but he, having struck struck a trail of Apaches at the crossing of the Huerfano, followed it, and on the 25th came up with the enemy on the Purgatory, in the Raton Mountains, captured their camp with all its equipage, baggage, &c, killed seven Indians, captured six and wounded seven. On the 23d of April, Col. Fauntleroy left Fort Massachusetts with two companies of Volunteers, D Company 2d Artillery, and D Company 1st Dragoons, and proceeded to the head of the St Louis Valley, where the command struck a large trail of the Utahs on the evening of the 27th.

On the morning of the 28th the command followed the trail for twenty-four miles through the mountains to the left of the Puncha Pass, and halted Spies and guides being sent out to reconnoiter, returned at 9 o'clock at night. At 10 o'clock the command was in the saddle and off. Having followed for about thirteen miles, came up to the enemy's camp. The mounted were ordered to dismount and hitch their horses; a guard was established over the horses and pack animals, and the command prepared for an attack At about daybreak, as the command approached the enemy's camp, their dogs gave the alarm; the enemy fired a few shots by way of opening the fire; this was returned with great rapidity by the command. The camp was soon taken—the enemy routed. Forty of the enemy were killed, six captured, and a very large number wounded.

The command had one slightly and one mortally wounded Ten mounted men were detailed to drive off the stock. A very large amount of camp equipage, plunder, &c., was found in their camp, consisting in part of six rifles, four pistols, two dragoon saddles, five five-dollar gold pieces, 200 buffalo robes, 175 Indian saddles, a pile of lariats, some powder and lead, dried meat, blankets, trinkets, head dresses, body dresses, several shields and spears, bead work, 26 bows and quivers with arrows, 35 horses and 12 sheep were taken, and also a number of goats.

This fight took place at day-break on the 29th of April, near the Arkansas river, about twenty miles north of the Puncha Pass.

On the afternoon of the 1st May, the command came upon a party of some thirty-five of the enemy in the Chowatch Valley, captured their camp of six lodges, with all its equipage, viz: twenty horses, thirty buffalo robes, several shields, spears, a dragoon sabre, &c. In the running fight two of the enemy were killed and four wounded The next morning parties were sent into the mountains, who succeeded in killing two and wounding several. In the mountains, their chief, Tierra Blanco, made his appearance on a ledge of rocks, announced his name, and said, in substance: "You are my brothers; I am your friend. My people do not want to fight; they desire peace very much," &c.

The command returned down the Del Norte to Fort Massachusetts on the 9th of May in good health and spirits.

From Utah.

The Salt Lake mail, under charge of Hudspeth & Jones, bringing the mails of May and June, arrived at Independence June 27. A telegraphic dispatch to the St Louis Republican states: The party had no escort on their route from Salt Lake to Laramie Hoffman attended them to Fallon's Bluff, from which point Capt. Todd accompanied them to Fort Kearney. The delays heretofore are to be attributed to the want of an escort.

Indians were very numerous in and beyond the Black Hills. They were very much alarmed at the movements of our troops and desirous of peace, and proposed giving up the murderers of the mail party last Fall. The troops gave them no countenance.

The reports of so many persons being killed by them are all fabrications. About 400 of the troops had reached Fort Kearney, and more were near by. Col. Cook, with his command, was thirty miles this side of that place on the 1st.

Emigrant trains were met at North Platte to the number of one hundred wagons. A few were seen between that and Kearny, but many more were met from that point to Fort Leavenworth.

In one of the Mormon trains the cholera had taken off twenty-five or thirty, and one-third more were sick. Kinkhead's first train was met near Kearney.

Great excitement on the subject of gold found on the Sweet Water was manifested in Salt Lake Valley, and numbers were leaving daily for the diggings. By next mail the result of their operations will be known, as the bed of the river would soon be laid bare and the hidden treasure exposed.

A good deal of anxiety is manifested here about the gold discovered in the head waters of Red River, in the territory west of Arkansas, and many are awaiting the return of the passengers to bundle up for that point.

We are in the midst of harvest; wheat crops very good, and other grain promising. Fruit likely to be abundant.

Judge Benedict is here, and intends leaving for New Mexico on Saturday next.

COAL BURNING LOCOMOTIVES.—A very interesting trial of a new locomotive, designed for the consumption of either wood or coal, (Dimpfel's patent), was made a few days since, on the New York and New Haven Railroad. The locomotive, with a single car, left the foot of Forty-second street at 1 o'clock P M., and returned at 5 o'clock, after a run of eighty miles. The company on board numbered about forty persons, mostly practical scientific gentlemen, among whom were Mr. McCullum, Superintendent of the Erie Railroad, and Mr. Whiting, Assistant Superintendent; Mr. Hoyt, Superintendent, and Mr. Quintard, Assistant Superintendent of the New York and New Haven Railroad; Drake Mills, one of the Directors of the Lockawanna and Western Railroad; Mr. J. G. Rankin and others, besides Mr. Wm. A. Crocker, the builder, and Mr. Dimpfel, the patentee of the engine

The results of the trip were not only satisfactory, but important, as proving the superiority of this description of engine, compared with ordinary wood burning engines, and as demonstrating the practicability and economy of using coal fuel on railroads.

The essential improvement here introduced, is the boiler, in which the water is brought through the tubes to the fire, instead of the fire to the water—completely reversing the usual plan. In this manner, the rapid circulation of water through the tubes, tends to equalize the temperature of the fire boxes, &c., and prevents the burning of the several parts. An engine of this sort has been running on the New Bedford and Taunton Railroad for the last three years, and has never needed repairs—the tube sheets remaining unchanged. Two others have been on the Little Schuylkill Railroad since the fall of 1852, with the same results.

The fact that coal must be substituted for wood as a fuel for locomotives, is universally admitted. The increasing scarcity, demand, and consequent cost of wood, render this obvious. At the same time, the mining interests of the country are being rapidly developed, and supplies of coal are procured with increasing facility. The locomotive "Taunton" burned but three tons in going from Taunton to New York, and in making the trip hence to Norwalk and returning—the aggregate distance being two hundred and twenty-one miles. Dimpfel's patent is said to have demonstrated that a ton of coal is equal to 2½ cords of wood, and that the rate of saving accomplished by substituting the one for the other, is equal to $12,000 per day on the 1000 locomotives employed by Northern railroads.

The "Taunton" engine is a very beautiful machine, weighing only 25 tons, and is neither cumbrous nor complicated, which have been serious defects in the coal engines heretofore built. In its general appearance, this locomotive differs little from those in common use, except that it has a plain open "smoke stack," such as are in use on English railways. The cost of altering the wood engine to one of this description is not large, and after the change is made, wood can still be used, if desired. The cost of the improved locomotive is only $200 or $300 more than is usual. Something depends on the kind of material used in constructing the tubes. The "Taunton" has brass tubes, but iron are considered nearly as good. This engine is designed for the Reading and Pottsville Railroad. Another has been completed for the Worcester road, and one for the Lowell road is far advanced

On the experimental trip yesterday, the absence of all smoke, cinders and noxious gases, was in striking contrast with the usual experience on such occasions. Notwithstanding the car windows were kept open, there was no annoyance from this source. All expressed themselves gratified with the trip, and the testimony respecting the importance of the results was unanimous and unqualified. Mr. Dimpfel has labored long and indefatigably to perfect his invention, expending large amounts in experiments, and has finally achieved the desired end. From the cars, the party repaired to the New York Hotel, for dinner.—N. Y. Jour. Com.

AWFUL ACCIDENT—Explosion of a Boiler.—One of the most terrible accidents which ever happened in this vicinity, occurred on Friday morning last, at 8 o'clock, on the railroad, about one mile east of this place. The Locomotive, Governor, drawing a heavy freight train, had just left the State depot, when her boiler burst, creating a wreck such as we never before witnessed. The engineer, Mr George Zeigler, was killed instantly, and the fireman, an Irishman named James Flanigan, was so injured and scalded as to render his recovery extremely improbable. He was taken to the hospital in Philadelphia, in the afternoon train of cars

The clothing of Mr. Ziegler was entirely stripped from his body, his face was blown off, his head horribly crushed, and one of his arms thrown to a distance of about 100 feet from where the boiler exploded! When we visited the scene of disaster, about half an hour after its occurrence, we were astonished at the wreck presented. The large dome of the engine was blown full 100 yards from the spot; twisted iron, bars and bolts, wood, etc., were scattered for many yards around, and every flue in the boiler exposed to full view—not a vestige of its iron covering remaining. The cause of this explosion is buried somewhat in doubt, but from the expressions of the fireman when in agony, we are led to infer that the safety valve was tied down. If this was true, there is no mystery about it, as the condensation of steam without the proper mode of escape, sufficiently explains it. We learn that it is not an unusual thing for the engineers on this road, when they have heavy trains, to pursue the same dangerous experiment. Let this sad accident prove a timely warning, and let them not so rashly risk life in the future. Neither should they be loaded above the safe capacity of their locomotives.—Columbia Spy.

GEN. THOMAS L. PRICE, of Jefferson City, who is a contractor on the Pacific Railroad, was robbed a few days since of $8,000 on board the steamboat Sonora. He had just procured the money in St. Louis, to pay off the laborers on the road.

Things in Mexico—Return of the President—Position of the Ministry—Progress of the Revolution—Strange Rumors and Probable Explanation—The Revolution in New Leon—Pretended Liberality of the President.

MEXICO, June 19, 1855.

His Most Serene Highness returned to the capital a few days ago, under cover of the night, without the sound of gun or trumpet to proclaim his triumphant entrance—a circumstance which rumor assigns to the rather discreditable result of his late expedition.

There has been much talk here of an anticipated change of ministry. Such a measure is universally desired, but Santa Anna seems inextricably linked with the nullities composing his cabinet, and cannot get rid of them, if even he wished He is a firm believer in the success of the Conservatives—a party which really consists of a small fraction of individuals, who detest the ministry and refuse to acknowledge them as Conservatives. Santa Anna fears that if he dismisses his cabinet, he will forfeit a support which he will be unable to find elsewhere. This is a grave error. If the President is unpopular, his ministers are a thousand times more so, and will probably drag him down in their fall.

We have very little news of the revolution. A rumor prevailed yesterday that Morelia had been captured by Comonfort, Pueblita and others, but it is untrue. What, however, is certain is, that Morelia is in danger, and that yesterday morning a force of grenadiers, lancers and chasseurs of the guard left with two 24 pounders, for the defence of Michoacan.

A strange report, emanating from the Cabinet, created lately a vast amount of excitement. It was stated that Degollado, Cajerzas, Pueblita and Huerta—the revolutionary chiefs—had petitioned for an amnesty, that it had been accorded by the government, and that they were all expected in Mexico. The story was swallowed by the credulous with avidity, and many were ready to swear that the insurgent chiefs had reached the capital, and had been seen. It is almost needless to state that the rumor was fabricated out of whole cloth—the facts on which it was based appear to be as follows: Degollado had, as you remember, been called to Mexico by the puros who had promised him to provoke a strong demonstration in favor of the revolutionary movement He came, but their pledges were falsified, and they did nothing. Meanwhile, Degollado was compelled to give battle to a superior force, and to lose forty-one of his men, who were captured and shot. You may readily understand that he was not particularly pleased at the issue of the adventure. After the engagement at Tizacuya, the insurgents fell back on the village of Huehuetoca, and committed several outrages on the inhabitants. Nothing but the presence of their leader prevented them from adding rapine to maltreatment. The conduct of his men disgusted Degollado, who is a high-toned and honorable soldier.

Add to this, that Degollado is now in an isolated position. He proclaimed the organic bases, but Alvarez has thus far avoided giving his official sanction to this measure, and has even indirectly disavowed it by conferring the supreme command on Gen. Comonfort. This is another cause of discontent The revolution has impoverished Degollado and his family, and he is now placed in an inferior position, and absolutely ruined. All these untoward events may possibly, in a moment of despondency, have induced him to express a desire to treat with Santa Anna on certain terms The stupid Cabinet not understanding the necessity of strict secrecy in a matter of this sort, openly proclaimed that Degollado and the others were about to give in their adhesion to the government. The publicity of the movement nipped it at once in the germ. I am assured that Degollado denies the statements in toto, and declares they have been made with a view to destroy his influence and prestige. Others, however, affirm that negotiations are in progress, and that a messenger has been despatched to Toluca with a full pardon for Degollado. I am satisfied, in any event, that neither Ghilardi, Huerta, nor Pueblita has any share in this transaction.

The revolution in Neuvo Leon is going forward, but as all communication with the revolted State is cut off, we get little or no positive information. It is said that the insurgents have been much strengthened by volunteers, and that having a garrison at Monterey, they have, to the number of 1000 men, taken up the line of march for Matamoras, which is under the command of Gen. Woll The latter has but few troops with him, and writes that he cannot rely on their fidelity. The government has sent him reinforcements and $45,000 in specie, but whether these succors will reach him in time is extremely doubtful.

After the capture of Monterey the insurgents liberated all the prisoners taken, leaving it to their option to return to their homes, or to enlist under the revolutionary standard. Col. Mourett, whose death had been recorded, has recovered from his wounds, and accuses Gen. Cardona of cowardice and incapacity.

The garrison of Cuidad Victoria, numbering 400 men, has pronounced, and is marching upon Soto la Marina, with a view of levying upon $100,000 belonging to the government in that place. Gen. Casanova has sent 150 soldiers from Tampico to take the place of the deserters.

On the return of Santa Anna he had manifested a disposition to adopt energetic measures against the insurgents at Monterey. He was to have despatched at least 4000 soldiers to the scene of operations, and to have followed in person But after a tremendous fuss, nothing has been done. This inconsistency is probably due to the threatening condition of affairs in Michoacan, which do not permit the President to weaken the forces under his command.

Quite recently Gen. Santa Anna informed the various journalists, privately, that they might write articles in favor of a new constitution. Thus far no paper has ventured, upon the simple faith of an unofficial statement, to incur the risk of infringing the rigorous statute of censorship, nor will any of them venture to discuss the question, unless officially and publicly authorized

I believe that Santa Anna and his Administration are doomed. That they still exist, arises not from their strength and popularity, but from the bad management of the revolution, and the utter absence of leaders worthy of implicit confidence and respect.

It is said that Gen. Yanez has been restored to favor, and promoted to the rank of General of Division; that he has received the order of Guadalupe, and is on his way to Mexico, to assume the command of the troops that are to be sent to San Louis Potosi.

Santa Anna's Saint's day was celebrated with the usual solemnities. The whole city was illuminated, an order to that effect having been issued. The ball in the evening proved rather a failure. The ladies of respectability kept away, but there were many of doubtful reputation present. His Supreme Excellency is said to have been furious at the fiasco. Madame Santa Anna was present, and, as usual, charmed every one by her simplicity and affability. She danced until 3 o'clock, A M.

A number of highway robbers were executed a few days ago at Puebla.

Orders have been sent to the officers of the Government troops to shoot all the insurgents who may be captured, without benefit of clergy.

The order of Guadalupe has been bestowed on Baron Rieboffen, the Prussian Minister.

DISASTER AT MAZATLAN—ONE MILLION OF DOLLARS WORTH OF PROPERTY LOST—A frightful disaster occurred in the harbor of Mazatlan, on the night of the 15th June. A considerable number of vessels were, according to custom, moored outside the harbor. They were mostly laden with valuable cargoes, and were awaiting an anticipated revolutionary movement, in order that they might enter the port, by paying a part only of the heavy duties exacted by the tariff. The movement, however, did not take place, and the government having abated somewhat of its demands, these vessels sailed into the port in the latter part of May.

A few days afterwards, during the night of the 1st inst, a violent South wind arose, the waters of the harbor were lashed into fury, the storm became furious, the craft became unmanageable, were driven from their anchorage, and brought into violent collision with one another; six of the vessels were nearly entirely destroyed, and twenty-three of the crew drowned. The cargoes lost are estimated above one million dollars

The vessels lost are as follows:—The British ship Benjamin Elkin, from Liverpool, with a return cargo of iron and copper—two of the crew drowned; the English barque Jno Patchett, loaded with dry goods; the English barque Tartar, with a full cargo from Europe; the French ship Monette, vessel and crew total loss, with a return cargo of mother-of-pearl, dye wood and skins; the Peruvian brig Miguel, from Guayaquil, with a cargo of liquors, not insured; and the American schooner Copeland, in ballast. The latter was to have left the next day for San Francisco.

It is reported that an American clipper of 1500 tons has foundered in the port of Iguala.—N. O. Bee.

AGRICULTURAL DIVISION OF THE PATENT OFFICE—Reduvius Novenarius.—We make still another extract from the pen of Mr Glover, (treating of insects beneficial to vegetation,) which was prepared for publication in the agricultural report now in press:

"This insect (the reduvius novenarius) abounds in the neighborhood of Washington city during the summer and autumnal months, and is very useful in destroying the disgusting caterpillars which swarm on the shade trees. The eggs are deposited in autumn on branches, and are hatched in May or June. When young, the insects have abdomens of a bright red color, with some dark or black spots on their backs. The head and thorax are black. When they shed their first skin they appear of a grayish color, and display only the rudiments of wings. It is only in the last stage that they acquire perfect wings, and are capable of flying with great vigor.

"The reduvius measures an inch and a quarter in length, and destroys multitudes of noxious insects in all their states of transformation, and as such is highly beneficial; but, at the same time, it is dangerous to man if handled incautiously, as the punctures made by its piercer are often followed by severe consequences. When about to attack another insect it advances towards its prey in a most cautious and stealthy gait, apparently lifting up and putting down its feet in the same careful manner as a pointer when approaching his game. When near enough to make the fatal dart, it plunges its piercer into the unfortunate caterpillar, and deliberately sucks out its juices. A small specimen experimented with was placed in a box with ten caterpillars, all of which it destroyed in the space of five hours."

THE CORK TREE.—About a hogshead of acorns of the cork oak was ordered from the South of Europe for distribution in the Middle and Southern States for experiment or to test their adaptation to soil and climate. Much is anticipated from their successful introduction. Should a portion of the present distribution by any untoward circumstances fail to answer expectation, care will be taken by the office to obtain another supply for those who feel an interest in growing this useful tree. It will be a subject of national importance if the introduction proves successful. Plantations should be established on every favorable locality, so that in due time the increasing wants of the country may be fully met by the home supply. The tree grows rapidly, and attains a height of upwards of thirty feet. Indeed, even in England, there are various specimens over fifty feet high, with a diameter of more than three feet.

Cork trees are much esteemed in Southern Europe, and land planted with them is considered the most profitable of all that is unirrigated. They seem in general to prefer those localities where gneiss, sandstone, schistose, and calcareous rocks abound. The substance so familiarly known to us as "cork" is the epidermis or outer bark, which sometimes attains a thickness of two or three inches. This is rarely taken off until the tree has arrived at an age of fifteen or twenty years. This operation, which is carried on every six, seven, eight, or nine years, according to circumstances, is generally completed in the months of May and June, while the sap is still active in the tree. Although easy to accomplish, some care is required to avoid injuring the real bark, the "liber," which lies under the cork. A circular incision is usually made round the foot of the tree and another near the branches. Longitudinal cuts are then made; and, finally, by using the handle of a hatchet as a wedge, the cork is detached from the under bark. The larger branches are treated in a similar manner.

ONE of the curiosities to be sent from Prague, to the Paris Exhibition, is a suite of jewelry, consisting of 15,000 garnets, which vary in dimensions from the smallest size to such larger ones as are no longer to be met with in the trade. Added to the garnets are 6000 other stones, and the workmanship is said to be as exquisite as unique.

CITY AFFAIRS.

THE FOURTH OF JULY.—The "Glorious Fourth" again! Whiz—bang! Bring out your guns! The Republic has reached the 79th anniversary of its birth-day. The National Government has largely increased its family of children—and the Stars and Stripes float over the coasts of California as well as those of Maine and Florida. The last words of the venerable John Adams,—"independence now and forever,"—will re echo from hill to hill, till oceans shall join in the shout.

The Fourth of July! Many will hurrah for the stars and stripes until, as the day departs, they will see whole constellations and the stripes mingle into one. Guns, pistols, rockets, crackers, double headers, serpents, and other conspiracies against quiet, will explode powder until every town becomes another Crimea. Club boats, with fast young men, in red shirts and piratical hats, on board, will race upon our rivers. Germans will associate the memory of Washington with lager bier. Hibernians will fight the battles of the revolution over again, merely substituting the shillelagh for more murderous weapons. Full-blooded "sons of the Fourth of July" will seek to get up patriotic steam on soda water, or exhibit the wonderful feat of crowding the sea serpent into a hat of ordinary size. "Our gallant volunteers" will perspire freely as they parade our scorching streets, and endeavor to display the "pomp," if not the "circumstance" of "glorious war." Political meetings will be held, at which each party will strive to convince itself that without its support, the ship of State would go down. Ten thousand "orators of the day" will assure their hearers, in the most emphatic manner, that "it was on this day, just 79 years ago, that our forefathers pledged their lives, their fortunes and their sacred honor" that we should be free. Pic nic parties will celebrate the day by excursions to various popular resorts. Timid patriots, who read only the horrible railroad and steamboat accidents, will con the "Declaration" at home as their boys explode crackers under the windows. In short, as usual, in all its features, it will be a "glorious Fourth."

Sooth to say, however, each Philadelphian will be forced to spontaneously combust on his own individual responsibility, inasmuch as there will be no public demonstration worthy of note. The Democrats will assemble in Independence Square to hear an oration delivered by Ignatius Donnelly, Esq., a young and talented lawyer of this city. The Jefferson Literary Association will celebrate the day at the old building, S. W. corner Seventh and Market streets, where Jefferson is said to have written the Declaration of Independence.

A large number of the United American Mechanics, of this city, will parade in the morning, and proceed to Wilmington, Del., to participate in the celebration at that place. In the absence of attractions at home, the various excursions will doubtless take crowds away. Too much caution cannot be exercised by those having charge of these excursions for the prevention of accidents. As will be seen by advertisements in another part of to-day's paper, the following excursions will take place:

Excursion on the Reading Railroad to Pottsville, to witness the ceremonies of the dedication of the Clay monument.

Excursion on the Norristown Railroad, to afford our citizens an opportunity to witness the grand military review and display of fireworks at Norristown.

Six passenger trains will be run during the day to Atlantic City, affording extraordinary opportunities to our citizens for sea side enjoyments.

Excursion to New York by special arrangement, passengers leaving this city at 6 and 7 o'clock, A. M.

Excursion to Cape May by the swift and commodious steamer General M'Donald, going and returning the same day.

A very pleasant excursion by the noble steamer Thomas Powell, Capt. Davis, around the Pea Patch, reaching the city again at a convenient hour in the evening.

Up-river excursions to Tacony, Burlington, Bristol and Bordentown, by the steamboats Richard Stockton and John Stevens.

Two excursions to Trenton and intermediate places by the steamer Edwin Forrest, Captain B. M'Makin.

Surely here is an attractive bill of fare.

ANNUAL COMMENCEMENT OF THE UNIVERSITY OF PENNSYLVANIA—DEPARTMENT OF ARTS.—The annual commencement of the Department of Arts of the University of Pennsylvania took place at the Musical Fund Hall, yesterday morning.

There was a brilliant and fashionable audience present, the majority being ladies.

At half past 10 o'clock, the faculty, trustees and under graduates, having assembled at the Hall of the University, in 9th street, marched in procession to the Musical Fund Hall.

The exercises were opened with an appropriate prayer by the Rev Albert Barnes.

The following was the order of exercises:
H. Lenox Hodge—Greek Salutatory Oration.
D. Penrose Buckley—Destiny of Nations.
George B. Ingersoll—Steele.
Thomas K. Conrad—The Teachings of Nature.
Samuel Laird—Comparison of Shakspeare's Lady Macbeth with the Media of Euripides.
Simon Gratz—The Pursuit of Pleasure.
Joseph D. Newlin—Religion and Art.
Edmund R Robinson—The Olden Time.

Mr. D. P. Buckley treated the subject of the "Destiny of Nations" in a masterly manner. He sought to prove by history that the destiny of nations was carved out by Providence, and that no force of will or circumstances could alter the great plan In illustration, he followed the career of the mighty Napoleon, traced the history of England, from the days of the Norman conquest; and coming to our own land, followed its rapid progress from the time of Columbus. In conclusion, he drew a vivid picture of our glorious future, which was received with much applause.

Mr. Geo. B. Ingersoll gave a humorous view of the character and writings of Sir Richard Steele, the friend of Addison, full of point, and exquisite illustration. This address displayed critical powers of a very high order, and the audience seemed to appreciate its numerous excellencies.

Mr. Thos K Conrad delivered an address upon the "Teachings of Nature," full of mythological illustration. The address was a thoughtful, earnest and forcible production, and did great credit to the speaker.

Mr. Samuel Laird followed in a critical "Comparison of Shakspeare's Lady Macbeth, with the Medea of Euripides." Although from its subject, not calculated to excite applause, this address was very interesting, and it received strict attention, showing that it was duly appreciated

Messrs. R. Ashhurst Bowie and Effingham Perot were excused

Mr. Simon Gratz then delivered an address, full of poetical allusion and suggestive thought upon the "Pursuit of Pleasure." This address displayed cultivated thought and a refined taste.

Mr. John D Newlin followed in some excellent remarks upon the relation of Religion to true Art, in which pious inspiration received its meed of praise, as having contributed to the production of the masterpieces of Art.

Mr. Edmund R. Robinson treated the "Olden Time" in a pleasant vein.

Degrees were then conferred as follows:—

The Degree of Bachelor of Arts was conferred on the following Members of the Senior Class:

R. Ashhurst Bowie, D Penrose Buckley, Thos. K. Conrad, Samuel Dickson, Simon Gratz, William D. Hayes, H. Lenox Hodge, George R Ingersoll, Samuel Laird, John M. McGrath, Alexander W Mitchell, E. Coppe Mitchell, William B. Morris, Joseph D. Newlin, J Beauclerc Newman, Effingham Perot, John S. Powell, Edmund R. Robinson, George R. Waring.

The degree of Bachelor of Science was conferred on James J. Harrington.

The Degree of Master of Arts was conferred on the following graduates of three years standing:—Morris J. Asch, William C. Barclay, William F. Biddle, John F. Carpenter, Dorsey Cox, Brinton Coxe, Henry A. Duhring, Richard J. Dunglison, Alfred Elwyn, Chas. Hare Hutchinson, Benjamin Lee, Benoni Lockwood, Richard Ludlow, M. Huizinga Messchert, Saml. B. Wylie Mitchell, Isaac Norris, Jr., George Patton, Joseph G. Rosengarten, Charles F. Taggart, Wm. Lehman Wells, George S. West.

The Degree of Bachelor of Laws was conferred on Thos J. Barger, John Alexander Clark, George L. Crawford, Joshua Jones, Jr., Byron Woodward, Robert Palethorpe, Wm. H. Ruddiman.

The Degree of Doctor of Medicine was conferred on Philip Grove, Maryland; Charles B. Griffin, Virginia.

After the conferring of the Degrees, the Valedictory Oration was delivered by Mr. Samuel Dickson.

This able production concluded the interesting exercises of the day.

SHOCKING AND FATAL OCCURRENCE.—About 11 o'clock yesterday morning a fatal accident occurred at the Hancock school house, in Coates street, below Twelfth, which is now being altered. As an unknown laboring man was at work, a piece of scantling fell from an upper story, struck him on the head, and dashed out his brains. The unfortunate man had been at work at the building only two days. There was nothing upon his person which could lead to his identification. Coroner Delavau held an inquest upon the remains. The jury rendered a verdict that the deceased came to his death from injuries received "from the fall of a piece of scantling, not properly secured by the contractor." The body was taken to the green house.

OPENING A STREET.—The work of opening Dickinson street, in the First Ward, from Second street to the Delaware front, was commenced yesterday, under the superintendence of the Surveyor of the district, Mr. Chas. S Close, and the Supervisor, Col. S. S Money. The prosecution of this work will destroy several beautiful gardens, but it will be effected at a small expense, and when completed it will add much to the value of property on the street. Greenwich street, below Dickinson, has long been extended to the Delaware. Improvement goes bravely on in this section of the city.

CLUB PARADE.—Yesterday afternoon, a club of about 50 lads, calling themselves the "Rip-Raps," passed our office. They were costumed in shirts, striped with red and white, blue collars, spangled, and red velvet caps. A band of music preceded the party. Among the club were two lads dressed as clowns, who hit every one who came in their way with bladders, and amused themselves amazingly at the expense of other people. The club attracted a great deal of attention. We supposed it to be one of the boat clubs that will be on the Delaware to-day.

SLIGHT FIRE.—About two o'clock yesterday afternoon, a fire was discovered in one of a row of five new brick buildings, situated on the east side of Morris street, north of Pine. The alarm was sounded, and the Franklin Hose Company was soon upon the ground. The flames, however, had been extinguished by High Constable Blackburn and two other officers, aided by some of the workmen. It is supposed that the building was set on fire in the absence of the workmen.

A MAN DROWNED AT MANAYUNK.—An Irishman residing at Manayunk, whose name we did not learn, was drowned on Monday night, while bathing in the Schuylkill He was seized with a fit while in the water, and before aid could be rendered, he sank. The body was recovered, and Coroner Delavau held an inquest. Verdict—"Accidental death by drowning."

BOAT CLUBS.—A number of the Boat Clubs of the city, among which the "Wide Awakes" were conspicuous, paraded last evening, preparatory to embarking for the excursion to-day. They carried flags, and were accompanied by enlivening music. These clubs, and the firing of crackers were the principal indications of the approach of the glorious Independence Day.

BOY DROWNED.—A small boy named Gerouye, residing in the western part of the city, was drowned yesterday afternoon, in a pond at 12th and Pratt streets, into which he had accidentally fallen. Coroner Delavau will hold an inquest upon the body to-day. The attention of the Board of Health has frequently been called to these pond nuisances.

TEMPORARY SERVICE.—The Humane Hose C[illegible] has determined to place their apparatus [illegible] service of the citizens residing in the [illegible] the hose house, in Wood street, [illegible] used in case of a fire. The [illegible] Humane is a [illegible]

CERRO GORDO GUNS.—Two p[illegible] captured by the Pennsylvania Volunteers, at the battle of Cerro Gordo, will be used to-day for firing a salute, in Jefferson Square, under the superintendance of Capt. M. C. Berryman.

ASSAULT ON AN OFFICER.—Wm. Shute, charged with having broken the arm of officer Sheer, of Twenty-fourth Ward, on a recent occasion, has been held in $500 bail, by Ald. Coates, to answer at Court.

THE TENTH SCHOOL SECTION.—The Board of School Directors of Tenth Section, have elected Benj. Gaskill, President, and Jos. Cooper Secretary and Treasurer.

FALSE PRETENCE.—Henry Llewellyn has been arrested in Eighteenth Ward, on the charge of assuming the dignity of a police officer, and extorting money. He was committed to answer.

A DOLLAR A POLE, OR A NEW SYSTEM OF LODGING.—About the year 1849–50 there was a hotel kept by a Mr. Smith—we will call him—not fifty miles from this city. In those times blankets were not half as plenty as bad whiskey, and beds were bunks built one above the other. Our man, Smith, who was, with his good nature, something of a wag, from lack of room was forced to keep his bar and bunk in the same room. Whiskey was plenty, but blankets were uncomfortably scarce, he having but one pair for seven bunks. The bottom of the bunks was composed of coffee and meal sacks stretched over two poles, which were just near enough together to leave an uncomfortable sleeping hollow between them. Smith wanted to get pay for seven lodgers in the seven bunks, but how to manage to cover the customers with one pair of blankets was the question to be solved. But his genius was equal to the occasion. As the boys came in after supper, they would, as a matter of course, play a few games of "old sledge," and after making frequent and furious attacks upon Smith's whiskey, would, one after another, weaken, and ask Smith if he could furnish them lodgings. Certainly, was the reply, and the customer was navigated to the bunk which was covered with the pair of blankets, assisted on the poles, and carefully covered with the blankets.

In a few minutes the boozy fellow would become oblivious, when Smith would walk up, take the blankets and spread them in the second bunk. Into this one in a short time he would tumble another customer, take the blankets as before, and so on, until he had filled the seven bunks and covered seven men the same night with one pair of blankets. After the seventh man was fairly snoozing, Smith takes the blankets, rolls himself up in them and drops down upon the floor to take his sleep. The first man wakes up in the morning shivering with cold, his bones aching, and in a very bad humor, growls, "who the d—l has taken my blankets?" This arouses the other six, when they find that all their blankets have been stolen, as they suppose, for they knew they had them when they went to bed. The thief was cursed a few, as they drove the cold out by taking whiskey in. Smith kept his own counsel, while he assisted in piling the maledictions upon the blanket stealer. When asked for the bill of the night's lodging, Smith said two dollars each "Well, by thunder," says one, "that's pretty tall for laying on two poles!" "It's only a dollar a pole," said Smith, "and that's dog cheap, and then I have lost seven pair of blankets, which you ought to be charged for. I must have two dollars, or I'll charge the blankets." The boys concluded it best to pay, and go no more to the poles This is the only case we have heard of, where seven men slept in seven different bunks, all covered with one pair of blankets.

SARDINIAN RIFLE TRAINING.—An incident occurred to-day which threw a strange and to us a pleasant light upon the manners of making war. While the cavalry pursued the Cossacks to the river the Sardinian Rifles advanced from Kamara, and took up a position commanding the approaches from the valley of the Tchernaya They had hardly done so when our own Hussars and Lancers, returning from the pursuit, were descried in the distance. The Sardinians, strangers, as yet, to the uniforms of the various nations that are united in these camps, mistook them for enemies, and prepared to receive them as such. Colonel Cadogan, who is attached to their contingent, remonstrated, and when the Sardinians still showed suspicions, offered to advance and reconnoitre the strange cavalry. He did so, and, finding that he at least had not been deceived in the uniform, he pointed out to his countrymen the exact position in which their allies were posted, and turned them aside, so as not to interfere with the arrangement of the Sardinians. This done, he hastened back; but, to his amazement, when he reached the spot, he found that the Rifles were gone. While yet undecided what to do, or in what direction to proceed in search of the fugitives, he heard a step by his side, and on looking up he found himself face to face with the commander of the missing corps.

Colonel Cadogan at once told the Sardinian officer there was nothing to fear, that the cavalry in front were English. "So much the better," was the careless reply; "then we can make ourselves comfortable;" saying which, the Sardinian put a whistle to his mouth and produced from it a horrible squeak. Astounded at this eccentric behavior, the Colonel stared at his companion in arms; but who can describe his still further astonishment when, on a sudden, the very ground near his feet seemed alive with human beings! Up started the Rifles in all directions, and from all places, like Rhoderick Dhu's famous gillies; up they started from briar and brake, from ditches and water holes, where the whole corps had been lying perdu, waiting for the approach of what they believed to be the enemy. What if Russian cavalry had advanced instead of ours! Their surprise would have exceeded that of Colonel Cadogan. These Sardinian Rifles are as active as they are smart. They were hardly a couple of hours on the Kamara hills when they made themselves at home, and settled down in arbors which, in an incredibly short space of time, they had made out of brushwood. They [illegible] singly small, but also exceedingly active and energetic [illegible] march in a trot, and climb up steep places with a wonderful rapidity.

TERRIBLE FLOOD.—On Saturday last we were visited with a succession of thunder showers, which commenced about 4 o'clock, P. M., and lasted during the whole night. An immense amount of rain has fallen. Sabbath evening the attention of our citizens was called to the rapid rise of the Elkhart river, and the imminent danger of the bridge being swept away, with the destruction of other property that was in a perilous condition. Every method to relieve the bridge was resorted to, but with all the effort, the current undermined the west abutment, which gave way to the mighty force of the rapidly rising stream The river then began to cut a new channel through the east part of our village, and the current rolled over the gardens and through the orchards with fearful rapidity Many of the citizens became alarmed for their own safety, as the water had already reached the first floor of their dwellings, and a boat was sent to their rescue. On Monday afternoon serious fears were entertained in reference to the bridge across the St. Joseph river; and had it not have been for the thorough and energetic labors of the Supervisor, we have no doubt but that the south abutment would have gone by the board, but by timely effort it was saved.

Great damage has been done, but of the [illegible] we can form no adequate idea. Mr. K[illegible] flouring mill will be damaged from five [illegible] to one thousand dollars.

At the present it appears that the Elkhart river has plowed a new channel through the east part of the town, eight or ten feet deep and six or eight rods wide, though we hope that the appearances deceive us.

We learn that the damage up the Elkhart river has been immense—at Waterford, at Benton, and at Syracuse. We presume that the flood here was much augmented by the cutting away of the dam at Syracuse. We learn that all the bridges across the Elkhart river are gone. The railroad bridge has been seriously damaged, no freight train passing it on Monday or Tuesday, nor can any train pass between this and Goshen as yet.

The loss in this county will not be less than $50,000.—Elkhart (Ind.) Herald.

FISH AND THEIR HABITS.—Owing to the severe winter, the eel-spearing season at Southampton has been a failure. The eel and mullet tribes of all fish, have suffered most from the late cold weather. The small kind of eel, found in Southampton water, has been nearly destroyed by the frost, and during the severe weather large conger eels also perished; numbers of them were picked up in the British Channel, floating on the surface, dead with cold. In Southampton Dock, which used to swarm with mullet, not one can be found. Great numbers, after floating benumbed on the surface, died and sunk to the bottom, from whence they are dragged up. Cod-fish are often found floating on the surface, helpless, through being gorged or blown like quadrupeds They gormandize on a small piece of whiting, and refute the opinions that the inferior animals are instinctively temperate A few days since, in the Solent, a seagull was seen by a fisherman pecking at something on the surface of the water On approaching he found it to be an immense overgorged codfish, alive, but helpless. In the Solent half the body of a codfish is often found floating about. These remnants are caused by porpoises snapping at the codfish while in pursuit of a shoal of herrings or other small fish. A porpoise, before taking in a barrel of herrings for its dinner, will often whet its appetite with a cod's head and shoulders, and leave the tail for some poor fisherman.—English Paper.

INDEPENDENCE DAY IN CANADA.—Our brethren over the line, says a Rochester paper, are making extensive preparations for celebrating the 4th of July. The Hamilton Banner, after alluding to the preparations in progress in different parts of the Province, says:

"In our own city a committee has been formed to make arrangements for honoring the occasion in a quiet way. A large canvass tent has been ordered from Rochester, and Mr. Pratt, of Congress Hall, who was the first in Canada to publicly celebrate the anniversary of Washington's birth day, is to provide a dinner, in which pork and beans will be sure to figure largely, to be partaken of under the tent, which is to be pitched in some of the pleasant groves in the vicinity of Hamilton. In the evening the party is to assemble at Mechanics' Hall, where the exercises of the day will be brought to a close in a becoming manner.

"All these things go to show the liberality of the age in which we live, and afford a pleasing contrast to the spirit which existed between Canada and the United States only some eight or ten years since. On the other day the New York City Guards paid a visit in their regimentals, to Montreal. They were hospitably and kindly received, as were the Rochester firemen who have just left us. This is carrying out the spirit of reciprocity in its truest sense, and we hope it will be productive of beneficial results."

"I DO, MOST SINCERELY."—When, at his private initiation into the mysteries of Hindooism, Mr. Fillmore was asked, "Do you approve these principles?" he replied, "I do, most sincerely." When the people of Buffalo, on last Tuesday, were asked, "Do you approve these principles?" the response was—

"We do, most sincerely,"	3,443
"We most sincerely do not,"	5,002
Majority for the "do nots,"	2,559

FOURTH OF JULY.

The people of the United States will celebrate to-day, the Seventy-ninth anniversary of their political Independence. The recurrence of the time naturally directs attention to the early history of the nation, and especially to that interval comprehending the origin and progress of the Revolutionary struggle. Reflection on the trials, difficulties, and perils of that momentous epoch, is happily adapted to make all aware of the great price at which the blessings we now enjoy were purchased, and to strengthen our loyalty to that sacred charter which at once confers and secures them. It is with proud satisfaction, and ought to be with deep and sincere thankfulness to Providence, that we are permitted to behold, this morning, the completion of more than three-quarters of a century of national existence, while in everything that pertains to the general welfare, there is so much that indicates a sound prosperity and the indefinite extension of our power, dignity, and happiness as a government. With nothing in our foreign relations to embarrass us, and with nothing in our domestic fortunes seriously to alarm, a feeling of congratulation may justly be indulged every where throughout the land, combined with a cheerful hope of a peaceful and prosperous future.

The most eloquent argument that could be advanced to establish the happy adaptation of our civil system to associate the most perfect security and felicity of the citizen with the largest personal liberty, is the present extraordinary height of material and moral advancement to which the nation has attained in the few brief years that have elapsed since it emerged from a condition of colonial dependence. It is not necessary to detail here the particulars of its greatness and progress. It is enough for gratitude and amazement to state, that in a period not much exceeding the natural term of a man's life, the confederation has grown from thirteen to thirty-two States, and that with an unparalleled augmentation of inhabitants and domain, improvement in arts, science, literature and all the elements of social refinement, has kept pace, so that the free United States of America occupy to-day a position among the nations which is the subject of universal wonder and admiration. The strides with which they have pressed forward from a late infancy to so full and vigorous a maturity, have been, indeed, without precedent in political history, and under the continued operation of the same propitious influences that have favored their development thus far, a just hope may be formed of a future career equalling all previous successes. But to insure the perpetuity of the national happiness, it is not enough to be sensible of the grandeur of present fortunes, or to feel grateful to God for the sleepless care with which He has guarded and guided us until now. We have duties to perform, as well as privileges and blessings to acknowledge; and it is more upon the wise, honest, assiduous use we make of that ample popular liberty left with us by the liberal spirit and provisions of the State and Federal constitutions, than upon any positive virtue in our civil institutions themselves, that our duration and felicity as a people must hereafter depend.

The best system of laws ever framed for human government, if badly administered and imperfectly obeyed, would fail of their high and beneficent ends; and admirably constituted for public and private good as are the institutions under which we live, their efficiency to protect our liberties, to develop the resources of the country, and to save us, either from the evils of revolution or the causes of national decay, must rest mainly, at least, upon the virtue, intelligence, and loyalty of those for whose benefit they were established. This is peculiarly true as applied to the American people. They happily possess a government abridging less than any other the freedom of the citizen, and containing no inherent principles of degeneracy or dissolution. If it ever falls, or fails of its benevolent designs, the cause of any such result must be sought for, and will be found, in popular ignorance, folly or corruption. It behooves us, then, to study well our political interests; to pursue them with honesty of purpose; to place faithful and competent men to preside over the public affairs, and to guard, especially, the highest official trusts of the Republic against the dangerous influence of a violent or contracted party spirit. Observing these simple rules of conduct as a community, we may confidently expect an indefinite duration and extent of national prosperity—but should we forget, or disregard them, political decline must inevitably overtake us, as it has overtaken the proudest and happiest Republics of other lands and times.

The Indiana and Illinois Central Railroad.

As we believe this road to be of great importance to Philadelphia, and as a number of our citizens are about to be solicited to consider, and to embrace, if they see fit, a proposition to aid the enterprise, we shall point out briefly some of the prominent advantages of the route, and state the nature of the help that is now sought for it from this community.

The proposed road passes through the centre of Indiana and Illinois, connecting their capitals by the shortest practicable route. At Indianapolis, its eastern terminus, it connects with the Atlantic cities, the Northern lakes, and the South, by the various roads diverging from that point. At Decatur, its Western term... ...by which it connects, on the south, with the Mississippi at Cairo, and on the north with Chicago, as well as the upper Mississippi at Galena. But its important relations at that point are with the "Great Western," now in operation, and extending through Springfield to Naples, on the Illinois river, 93 miles. From the latter point to Hannibal, Mo., 38 miles, a charter has been granted, and a company organized. From Hannibal to St. Joseph, on the Missouri, 204 miles, "the Hannibal and St. Joseph Railroad" is in course of rapid construction, with ample means.

It will thus be seen that the Indiana and Illinois Central road is a link in the direct route from Philadelphia to the "Far West." It will make, when the links are completed, an unbroken line of railroad from the Atlantic to the Missouri, at the very western verge of settlement. Of the eleven hundred and sixty miles, in round numbers, from Philadelphia to St. Joseph, six hundred and seventy-eight miles of iron highway are now in operation, two hundred and ninety-six are rapidly approaching completion, leaving one hundred and eighty six to be provided for. This gap consists of the Indiana and Illinois ...l Railroad, one hundred and forty-nine ...half miles, and the gap from Naples to Hanni..., thirty-eight miles. From Philadelphia th...gh Pittsburg, Steubenville, Columbus, Dayton, Indianapolis, Decatur, Springfield, and Hannibal to St. Joseph, is the shortest possible route from any Atlantic city to the centre of the Northwest. It possesses almost a due west course, near the parallel of 40 deg. N. And from all the points named it is two hundred miles nearer to Philadelphia than to New York by the Lake Shore route, and it is even ninety miles nearer to New York, through Philadelphia, than by any of the now-travelled routes. It passes through the capitals of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois; through the centres of their territory, population and wealth. It intersects the already established systems of railroads in the Northwest at their points of concentration. In a word, it occupies the impregnable position of a grand trunk line, from the seaboard to the furthest frontier of the ever-receding "Far West," and is destined to receive tribute from every line it intersects. For it is a well established fact, that while intersecting lines are mutually beneficial, by developing and concentrating the business of a country, the lines leading in the direction of the great currents of travel and commerce receive greatly more than they impart. The cross routes become, in fact, tributary lines to the trunks.

In this line of road, viewed as a whole, Philadelphia has as much interest as in any other. It is simply an extension of her own gigantic Pennsylvania Central Road. Its extension keeping pace with the westward advance of emigration, gives to her the control of the trade of the vast regions of the centre of the northwest, because it brings her nearer to those regions than any other eastern city can be brought.

The company chartered for the purpose propose to build the road, by increasing their real estate, by subscription, to about the estimated cost of the road, and to raise the requisite funds by the issue of seven per cent. bonds, redeemable in twenty years, to an amount equal to two-thirds of the sworn valuation of the lands, and secure their payment by a mortgage or deed of trust, on the real estate, reserving the right of selling the lands, or any part of them, at not less than their appraised value, so that the proceeds be applied in payment of the bonds; reserving, also, the right of redeeming, at any time, any portion of the bonds, by paying a premium of ten per cent. Such bonds, predicated upon such a valuation of real estate, in a country rapidly advancing, will not, it is confidently believed, fail to command the money on favorable terms.

It is known that there is a large amount of Western lands owned in Philadelphia. The owners are asked to aid in extending the Pennsylvania Central line by giving to the Indiana and Illinois Central Railroad Company, all, or portions, of their lands in exchange for the stock of the said corporation. In the present monetary condition of the country the Company do not ask for a cash subscription. But what they do ask will, it is believed, enable them to build the road, while it will, perhaps, be in most cases the best possible disposition parties here can make of their lands.

At a recent special meeting of the Board of Trade the above recited proposition of the Indiana and Illinois Central Railway Company was submitted and fully explained, and the Board, in order to express its sense of the matter, unanimously passed the following resolution:

Resolved, That the Board of Trade, having had the plan of a subscription of land to be made by private owners, in the States of Ohio, Indiana, and Illinois, towards the construction of the "Indiana and Illinois Central Railway," laid before them by a Committee of said Road, recommend the proposition to the favorable consideration of their fellow citizens, as, on the completion of the said railroad, it will create an important link in a great trunk line, having a uniform gauge, and extending from the city of Philadelphia, to Hannibal, in the State of Missouri.

Return of the Jews.—We see it stated that Sir Moses Montefiore, who lately passed through Vienna on his way to Palestine, goes there to purchase a large district in the country, to settle upon it the Jewish paupers of Jerusalem. Eventually his purpose is to settle there also, all those Jews who feel inclined to return to the country of their ancestors. This is, perhaps, the first practical effort yet made at procuring a return of that widely scattered race.

The Erie Railway Difficulties.—The Erie committee, consisting of Messrs. Joseph M. Sterrett, Wilson King, E. Babbitt, and G. J. Ball, publish an address to the people of that borough, in which they say that they have failed to induce the Governor to sign the bill passed by the Legislature for settling the railway difficulties, and that a proposition, the details of which have already been published, is the most favorable one they could obtain for the compromise of difficulties. If Erie accepts it, and the railroad companies decline, the Governor will at once sign the legislative act; but if the companies accept and Erie declines, the Governor will refuse to sign the bill. The committee, therefore, recommend the authorities and people of Erie to accept the compromise, which they have doubtless done before this. The railroad men, however, hold out, firmly relying on the "Pittsburg and Erie" road to which we alluded yesterday. They have proposed that the Erie and North East road shall be legalized as located, that a branch shall be constructed to the harbor by the 6th of January next, and that the Lake Shore roads be permitted to subscribe $400,000 to the "Pittsburg and Erie" cut off! It is evident that, feeling confident of maintaining this latter connection, they have concluded to let the Erie matter alone.

General Quitman having been openly charged by the New York Sun with having pocketed a very large sum of money, paid him for his services in the last conspiracy to invade Cuba, which money he was not entitled to, publishes a card in the Natchez Courier pronouncing the statement false and slanderous, but giving no explanations, on the ground that the present is not a proper time to make them. To this the Sun rejoins, that as the General's connection with the Cuban Junta has ceased, and the expedition has failed, now is a very proper time to make explanations. The General does not deny his connection with the Junta, and as the Sun has long been the organ of that interest, and familiar with its operations, these statements are generally believed to be correct. We published them some time since.

Railroad Opening.—It is announced by the St. Louis Intelligencer, that the western division of the Ohio and Mississippi railway is now completed, and will be opened for travel this day, the 4th inst., by which a through route of connected railways will be formed between St. Louis and Philadelphia, the aggregate distance being 1029 miles. This is much the shortest and best through route yet opened to the distant west, and is so direct that it must become a principal avenue of trade and travel. The route is by way of Vincennes, Terre Haute, Indianapolis, Crestline, and Pittsburg, and is the one to the opening of which our Philadelphia railroad interests have been looking forward. Hitherto we have had none but indirect routes to St. Louis of a railway kind.

An Indian Fight.—On the 12th ult., it being discovered that a party of Indians had stolen some horses from a place about fifteen miles distant from San Antonio, a party of five men mounted and went in pursuit. They surprised the Indians, three in number, in the valley of Chicon, where they were encamped, and recovered four of the horses. Although the pursuers numbered five, and the Indians were but three, and had only one gun, they made good their escape, one fighting the whites until his two companions saddled three horses, on which they all mounted and rode off. They made a free use of arrows, and the whites returned the fire with guns. Subsequently a party of twelve or fifteen mounted men went in pursuit.

Important Move.—A Kanzas correspondent of the New York Daily Times says that plans are on foot to colonize Missouri with Eastern Free Soilers, and make an effort to abolish slavery there, as an offset to the lawless invasion of Kanzas by the Missourians. The announcement of the fact, however, is very likely to prevent its success by stirring up an opposition in Missouri. The mere suggestion of such a plan being conceived, shows the danger of the example set by the Missourians.

The Crops.—An intelligent and experienced friend, who has just returned from a journey through parts of Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois Iowa, Kentucky, Virginia and Maryland, informs us that wherever he passed the crops of all kinds were in the most flourishing condition, and that the reports of all with whom he conversed on the subject confirmed his own observation. The breadth of land under cultivation was unusually large, and there was a promise of an extraordinary yield.

The Texas Indians.—The Austin Gazette states that there are no difficulties with the Indians on the frontier, and that immigrants are beginning to come, and confidence is restored. A rumor prevailed that several horses had been stolen lately from the settlers on the San Saba, but it was suspected that the depredators were white men instead of Indians; and the settlers were on the lookout for them.

Texan Politics.—A River Improvement Convention has nominated D. C. Dickinson for Governor, W. G. W. Towers for Lieutenant Governor, and John Hancock for Congress. A Democratic State Convention having met and adjourned without making a ticket, the Convention have taken the matter in hand. Governor Pease has been renominated for Governor, and P. H. Bell for Congress.

The Russian Embassy.—It is said that Coun Medem, the Russian Minister in Brazil, who, after the death of Mr. Bodisco, was appointed to fill the same post in the United States, has wholly retired from the diplomatic service on account of ill health, and it is added that this resignation increases the probability of Mr. De Stoeckl, the present charge, becoming the full minister.

Judge Musgrove Evans, who died in Hays county, Texas, lately, was a native of Philadelphia, and one of the first pioneers of the territory of Michigan, from whence he emigrated to Texas in the year 1835. He is said to have originated the first temperance society in the United States, and lived up to its precepts to the end of his life.

Large Tree.—There is said to be a black walnut tree in Allegon county, Michigan, about twenty miles north of Kalamazoo, which at the height of two feet from the ground, measures thirty-three feet in circumference, but it is in partial decay, the limbs being mostly broken off. A Disease called Charbon is killing the cattle in large numbers in the vicinity of Matagorda, Texas, and the flesh of such animals as die of it is deadly poisonous. The same disease was equally destructive about Bayou Sara in the year 1836. It is stated that no cure has yet been found for it.

Destruction by Fire of ship Star Republic.

The following is the report of Capt. Cole, of ship Star Republic, as obtained from him:

Left the port of New York June 28th, for Galveston, Texas. July 1st, being the third day out, in lat. 37 30, lon. 73 45, at 2.30 A. M., discovered the ship to be on fire in the hold; kept off before the wind, and commenced throwing water down the main hatch, as near as possible in the direction of the fire; at 3.30, the fire rapidly increasing, and to such an extent that there was no possible chance of saving the ship, lowered the stern boat and got most of the passengers into her, ready to shove off, as the case might require. In the meantime, the officers and crew were vigorously endeavoring to stop the progress of the flames, which had then spread almost through the entire hold, and rushing out the main hatch. There being no hope of saving the ship, got out the long boat and put in her the passengers' baggage and some provisions, compass, quadrant, &c., when the brig Rush, Captain James Barton, was discovered running down for us, and was soon hove to, to windward; despatched the small boat in charge of the first officer, with passengers and baggage to the brig, while the rest of the crew, with the aid of Mr. S. Phillips, succeeded in saving the rest of the passengers' luggage, &c.

About 5.30 A. M., the ship was in flames below and aloft; nothing more could be saved; and the spars beginning to fall, the rest proceeded to the brig, where we were all very kindly received by Capt. Barton, who then filled away to the west ward, the ship continuing to burn while in sight. At 5 P. M., spoke the schooner S. S. Learnard, Capt. Manuel, from Gonaives for New York, who kindly took us on board, and brought us all safe to this city.

Rufus Cole,
Master of ship Star Republic.

The Star Republic was owned by Messrs. Wakeman, Dimon & Co., was built at Portland, Conn., was about 320 tons burthen, was 11 years old, and during that period, with the exception of one year, has been constantly engaged in the Texas trade. She was valued at $15,000, on which, as far as known, there is but $6,500 insurance, in Wall street. She had a comparatively small cargo, the ship not being over half full. The value of the cargo, probably, does not exceed $10,000, and is also insured in Wall street. She had 150 bales of hay on board, in which, it is more than probable, the fire originated.

IMPROVEMENT IN DENTISTRY.—A Manufactory for producing Entire Setts of Artificial Teeth, after Dr. Loomis' improved method, is now established in this city. By this plan a set is composed of but one piece of material, the teeth and plate are all the same. It consists of the entire set of teeth, together with the gum roof of the mouth being one solid piece, the whole being beautifully enamelled with their appropriate colors. The teeth are worn with great comfort, there being no cavities for the lodgement of particles of food, as there must always be in the old method of gold plate setting, however well it may be executed.

Among the many advantages are cheapness, durability, cleanliness, and utility in masticating food, &c.

The superiority of this method is very apparent. Those interested are invited to call and examine specimens at Dr. J. LUKENS' office, No. 119 north Tenth street, Philadelphia. je23 3m§

SALAMANDER SAFES—EVANS & WATSON, No. 26 South FOURTH Street, Philadelphia.

GREAT FIRE, CHESNUT AND FIFTH Streets, FRIDAY MORNING, December 15—EVANS & WATSON'S SALAMANDER SAFES TRIUMPHANT, as they always are when put to the test.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 18, 1854.

Messrs. Evans & Watson, No. 26 south FOURTH street, Philadelphia.—Gentlemen:—We take much pleasure in recommending your Salamander Safes to merchants and others in want of a secure means of preserving their books, papers, &c, from fire, as the one we purchased from you about seven months since has preserved our books, papers and cash in a good condition, which were put into it, before the great fire of this morning, which destroyed the entire block of buildings at the corner of Chesnut and Fifth streets, including the store occupied by us. The above Safe was in use in our office, on the first floor of our building, from which place it fell into the cellar, and remained there until the fire was out. The Safe was then removed and opened in the presence of at least two hundred persons, who witnessed the good condition of the contents. Will you please send us another ... as we intend to put it in use again, having perfect confidence in its fire proof qualities.
Yours, respectfully,
LACEY & PHILLIPS.

YELLOW SPRINGS, CHESTER COUNTY, PENNSYLVANIA.—This establishment is now open for the season. During the winter the buildings have undergone extensive additions, and are now in a state of complete repair. Besides the natural beauty and health fulness of the place, the Springs possess a mineral character that has proved to be highly efficacious in many cases of disease, particularly those arising from nervousness and general debility. The Russian Steam Bath, constructed last month, under the superintendence of a gentleman long a resident of that country, affords particular attention by those who are afflicted with rheumatism, neuralgia, cutaneous and chronic diseases, for the cure of which it is given. There are several large natural fountains, both pure and chalybeate, and facilities for bathing of every description. Hot, cold, plunge, shower, sitz, douche, and other baths may be had at all times. For visitors who come for recreation, or merely as a summer retreat, there are all the amusements usual at watering places—music, dancing, billiards, fishing, promenades, drives, &c. The table is supplied with all the luxuries of the season, and a choice collection of wines has been laid in under the superintendence of an experienced connoisseur. UNITED STATES HOTEL, CAPE ISLAND, N. J.—The above splendid establishment, so popularly known to the numerous visitors of Cape Island, during the summer months, has reverted to the direction of its owner, A. W. TOMPKINS, who conducted it for the two first seasons after it was opened. He has now much pleasure in informing his friends and the public generally, that having refitted the Hotel with new furniture, and made many alterations and additions, with a view to secure the enjoyment of those who may be disposed to bestow their patronage on his house, it will be re-opened on the 11th of June to receive company. For a long time, boarders at the different Houses on Cape Island, unaccustomed to the peculiar flavor and effects of the spring water of that location, have made the same a subject of serious complaint. This very unpleasant objection, so far as relates to the United States Hotel, has at length been happily removed by the introduction of an Artesian well on the premises, 96 feet deep, yielding an abundant supply of this indispensable necessary, of an unexceptionable quality in every respect. The services of a French Cook, recently employed at the most prominent Hotels in Philadelphia, have been secured; and the head waiter, Mr Thomas Dorsey, so long a favorite at the U. S. Hotel, has been re engaged. He earnestly hopes, that as no pains or expense have been spared in the preparation to render the Hotel a most desirable place of resort, not only to invalids, but to those in quest of pleasure, he will again receive that liberal patronage which crowned his efforts for the two years that it was under his immediate charge. Terms of Boarding will be found moderate. A W TOMPKINS, my29 3m§ No 308 Chesnut st, Phila.
